

International Law Studies in India and Thailand

- History, Present Challenges and Future Perspectives -

Sunday 26 June 2011, 10:00-12:30

at Meiji University, University Hall, Conference Room #1 on the 3th floor
(For the access see <http://www.meiji.ac.jp/cip/english/about/campus/surugadai.html>)

Language: English (no translation)

This is a special occasion for members of Japan Chapter of the Asian Society of International Law to have informal and exciting discussions with some of most active international law scholars from India and Thailand.

Moderator: Professor ONUMA Yasuaki, professor of Meiji University

Special Guests:

Professor Bhupinder S. CHIMNI, professor of international law at Jawaharlal Nehru University (India), who is one of leading scholars of the Third World Approaches to International Law (TWAIL).

Professor Vitit MUNTARBHORN, Professor of Law at Chulalongkorn University (Thailand), UN Human Rights Commission's Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea since 2004, who is one of leading specialists in international human rights and humanitarian law.

